

ECOTOURISM MANAGEMENT - Antananarivo (Madagascar) • Courses in french

In the past few years, the entire world, as well as of course the tourism industry, has become aware of the importance of sustainable development. In this context, the Ecotourism Management specialization aims to train executives who are able to manage or carry out a touristic project which complies with sustainable development principles as well as ecological, economic and social stakes. This specialization aims to give students the theoretical tools required to create, manage or develop an ecotourism hotel or facility, and includes immersion in Madagascar's many different ecotourism sites which present biodiversity and geodiversity.

Enrollment expenses:	€ 300
fees for non Madagascar residents:	€ 8.000
Tuition fees for Madagascar residents:	€ 5.000

The study cycle process:

Management 4	Academic semester
Management 5	Academic semester
	Management Training